

Getting involved in education and making a difference for students can happen and you can get involved easily. When partnering with the Vision Literacy Center you can create excellence in education for your community!

How you can partner with the Vision Literacy Center

Getting started:

Meet with INAM about the various ways you can get involved...

- After School Tutoring
- Tutoring Center
- In School Day Program
- Opening Your own School

Getting Trained:

INAM Regional Centers provide full training to enable you to help any student who is struggling or behind, any parent who needs help to work with their children's education, any teacher who just can't seem to reach their students and any adult who needs an education boost.

Vision Literacy Success Stories:

"This learning program opened my eyes towards a lot of new ideas. I learned about the barriers that I might face while learning and how to overcome them. I feel that this program really boosts up the confidence in teens lives and it lets them realize that they can learn and do anything their heart desires. I recommend this to any student, whether they are struggling in school or not. Without a doubt this program is truly beneficial."

- Briani Bell

"This course is very helpful to me as an athlete I have expectations to meet for myself. This program has shown me how to set goals the correct way and how to go about facing barriers to study. I will use this new knowledge to take me where I want to go in life. This course was enjoyable and the staff was very helpful. They didn't let me give up when I was making excuses after excuses. They believed in me. With this information I would like to give back by helping younger kids."

- Bryce Griffin

"I really enjoyed this course. It will help me a lot when it comes to school. When I first came here it was embarrassing because I never knew any of this stuff and I think it really helped me a lot. I think the staff really helped me. I think I would be a good mentor now that I learned this stuff and I'd think it would be fun. I will use this course probably all the way till I graduate. I also think it will help me because I want to be a teacher. I just want to thank you for letting me come here and learn more!"
